WE'VE GOT

Tech has it all! Hammond Tech offers a unique program to the students of Hammond. Our curriculum offers excellent courses covering academics such as English (Basics to Business English), Math (Algebra to Calculus) Science (Biology to Physics).

IT ALL!

And, our vocational shops are the leaders in the area for training students for future careers.

Students are exposed to cultural enrichment through our Fine Arts Department.

In addition to a very diversified course offering, Tech houses the Plato program which aids students in their learning.

CAPS AND GOWNS '80

"Commencement." What everyone was waiting for! The day finally arrived after four years. They saw the day in many different ways. Some saw it as "I've made it and its over thank God", and some with tears in their eyes "I can't believe it's over." Whatever their feelings were about that day, for many it was the last day to say goodbye to friends. As they began to go their separate ways, working, off to college, or getting married . . .

Pom-Pons perform during half-time of the homecoming game.

Homecoming '80 was celebrated September 22-26. Festivities included a Hat and Button Day on Monday, Kiddie Day on Tuesday, with a class tug-of-war and three-legged race after school. Wednesday was roaring twenties day.

Thursday, Wild, Wild West Day was acknowledged, with the annual Junior-Senior Powder Puff game after school. Seniors won 2-0. Friday was Brown and Gold Loyalty Day with at 5:00 and the game at 7:00. During half-time, the Queen's Ceremony was held. The five nominees were: Darla Davis, Rhea Kuntz, Nilda Marciano, Debbie Nicholas and Linda Turner. Debbie, Nicholas was crowned queen with Darla Davis being first runner up, and Rhea Kuntz second runner up.

Senior Achievements Are Recognized By All!

Kathy Martin receives a trophy for her work on the Tech Times as Mr. Rudd directs stage traffic in the background.

Senior award winners are seated on stage as the student body applaud their achievements.

Mirror Awards Reflect Personalities

Jose Marcano and Braion Johnson discuss their personalities as seen by their fellow classmates.

Every student looks forward to their senior year. It's the one year that "You're on Top". The 1980 Tech Seniors enjoyed themselves for the most part. Some students worked hard to receive scholastic and athletic recognition. The student body shared their enthusiasm during Senior Honors Day.

Another award ceremony was held in honor of these graduates. This was a different kind of reflection of Tech Seniors. The Mirror Award revealed those unforgettable personalities that will always be remembered.

"Starting Here, Starting Now"

On May 23, 1980, the Tech Choirs presented their Annual Spring Concert in the Center for the Performing Arts. The concert was entitled "Starting Here, Starting Now". Performing groups were Boy's Chorus, Girl's Chorus, Mixed Glee, Concert Choir, and the Folk Singers. The presentation was directed by Miss Velma Snyder.

BANQUET SALUTES ATHLETES

Coaches Wesley and Wilson applaud as Coach Vieau presents Coach Bereolos with an award for his many years of athletic service to Tech.

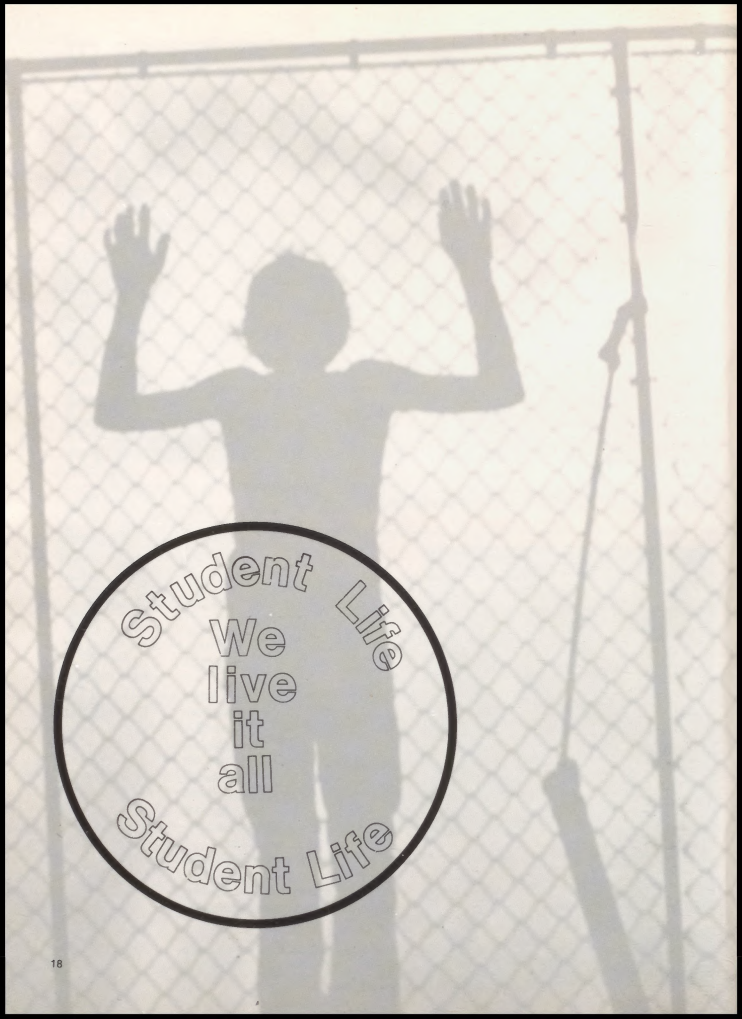

The 32nd Annual All Sports Banquet saluted senior athletes for their achievements during their high school careers.

Wicker Park Social Center was the place where parents, teachers, coaches and friends showed their appreciation to these dedicated Tigers.

Kathy Martin and Sandy Stotts were voted Most Outstanding Senior Girls. Highest Scholastic Award was presented to John Madeka. Bralon Johnson received the Bill Swain Best Mental Attitude Award and the Most Outstanding Senior Athlete Boy. Bralon and John both tied for the Swede Carlson Best All-Around Senior Athlete Award.

Spring sports awards were also presented at the banquet to outstanding participants in soccer, girls track, boys track, and baseball.

Bralon Johnson receives a trophy for the Most Outstanding Senior Athlete. He participated in football, wrestling, and track during his four years at Tech.

Student Life

We

all

Student Life

It's 7:50 in the morning and the bell has just rung. Students pour through the doors of Tech. A normal day begins with students and teachers rushing to class.

The Tech family has its problems, but they also have good times. Some of the activities which highlight the school year include Homecoming and spirit week, pep rallies, plays, musical concerts, prom and special school assemblies.

Some students work hard to achieve academic honors such as the DAR award, selection of the Outstanding Seniors, selection to Boys and Girls State. Industrial scholarships are also awarded to students who excel in their vocational areas.

MUSIC BRINGS JOY

Tech's Folk-Rock singers presents favorite tunes of the season.

Mrs. Velma Synder presents the Annual Christmas Concert.

Girls Chorus, Mixed Glee, Concert Choir, and Folk Singers opened the show with "Let It Snow."

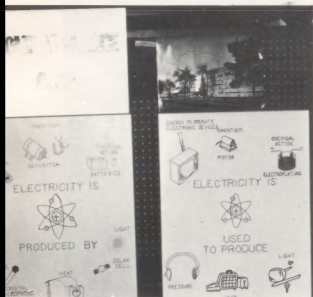

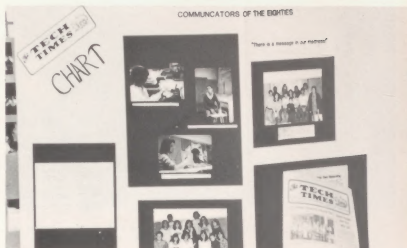

Decorating the publication's Christmas tree was fun. Just ask Lory Novak and Jerry Sanders.

Regina Cox has the holiday spirit. She stopped by to say Merry Christmas.

PROJECTS . . . DISPLAYS . . .

There was something for everyone in Tech's wide variety of displays shown at Woodmar Shopping Center during American Education Week. There was pride in every layout, project, and set-up displayed.

Autumn's Banquet

Marie Smith and Alma Jimenez share the victory of most valuable player in volleyball. Darla Davis and Regina Cox received major letters.

When Coach Bereolos speaks, people listen

Rene Trevino presents a trophy of appreciation to Coach Vieau.

Players of many sports gathered together to share one evening. They enjoyed the evening with laughter and awards. These awards were presented not only to the players, but to the coaches as well. As the evening closed, there was achievement to some, and others who came just enjoyed the time. The coaches left with pride for their players.

Homecoming Queen

With the close of all seasonal games, comes the yearly festivities. This year's homecoming game was against Lake Station. We were able to play some good and tricky ball. The team showed promising skills for the future.

Basketball, is a game that puts the mind and body to the test. The game can become very competitive, even so much that some teams feel they need a crutch to win the game. This shows poor sportsmanship whenever it occurs.

Fake fouls, illegal touching, and other false penalties takes the true enjoyment and spirit out of any game. Even though our team was not victorious, they were glorious team players.

The homecoming festivities were graced by this years homecoming queen Rhea Kuntz (Left) with her escort Chuck Townsend, who was Mr. Tech Spirit. The queen's court made their debut; then the second half of the game proceeded.

For some, this season was the last they would play at Tech.

Poms display their dancing technique for the "Celebration."

Other 50's Day show offs during Winter Festival week give you a glimpse of male fashions of the times.

In history we find many countries fall to a higher power. So is the case with Tech. Even though, our school will be transformed into a Vocational Center, it still will hold the echoing memories of years gone by. The foundations of many students were cast here. These students shall go forth building upon what they have already learned.

Many students and faculty will be faced with where to go or job placement. There is one sour note to all this, though. Our student enrollment will diminish to a great extent. One reason is because of our graduating seniors. Second, there will be no freshmen calss. Third, and most important, some will not feel the need to pursue their education.

We may think of Tech's closing as a mere school closing, but this is not true. These doors have driven the paths deep into this community. The Arts, Technical training, and Business have developed our community. We are not asking for a pat on the back acknowledgement, but just an eye opening in forgotten minds who have criticized these halls and not the accomplishments.

Teachers coincide with all these words. They are our philosophers, advisors, and friends. We owe much gratitude for their teachings. But not so much the teaching, but their sense of patronage. That key word is what will hold our name true forever. Our patronage will be tested to see if Tech can go out with its flying colors of Brown & Gold.

"KISS ME KATE"

Gloria Pena (Lilli) gives instructions to Cyndee Hellems (Hattie).

Gangsters Mike Sanchez and David Sanchez try to bully Gloria Pena.

Below: Chorus Members—Rosemary Mendoza, Marie Smith, Wayne Hartman, Dale Darnell, and Gwen Ashley.

The student body consists of many faces which portray various concepts of school spirit. Some more enthusiastic than others, while others carry the average school grin. With the new year ahead, many more faces will gather to expand (All the Faces in Our Place).

On the other hand, many of our well worn-in faces will depart to become a face of the world. The words to grow old is to grow young, will hopefully be the idea left in our good-bye faces. While tomorrow we also must face the decision whether to adopt that phrase. To sum it up we've got it all.

Looking back on my four years at Tech, I realize that time has passed more quickly than I thought it would. Four years seemed like an eternity when entering high school, but in reality time slipped by.

Freshman year was filled with uneasiness and uncertainty. As sophomores, we gained confidence and a feeling of belonging. We got school spirit by winning first place for our homecoming float. It was also the year when our theatre department put on "Jesus Christ Superstar", which proved to be a great success.

Our junior year will always be remembered. It was the year when we were late for the homecoming parade. So, we rode through the streets, parading around with just one float! It seemed as though we were always selling something in order to make money to sponsor the Junior-Senior Prom.

Now, our senior year has come upon us. The major concern now seems to ready ourselves for graduation. This year shall always hold special memories for me since I was crowned football homecoming queen.

Recalling my four years at Tech reminds me of happy times and sad times, but most important, times which I shall always remember. I wish the best of luck to all of you and may your memories of Tech be as special as mine.

We play it all. This statement is not to be taken lightly. Tech's sports include rough or fast sports such as football, basketball, baseball, tennis, soccer, cross country, track and wrestling. This wide assortment of sports encourages students to use their skills in competition and for fun.

Not only do the students who participate in these sports benefit from their activities, but so does the audience. They gather to watch their favorite sports being played on the field, in the courts, and on the track. The audience's dedication helps to stir up morale and a positive atmosphere that is so vital to players in competition.

So when we say "We Play It All" we do not only mean the sports, but the participation of us all, at one time or another. The future expansion of Tech sports comes from all of us. See you in the stands next year!

At the Ole Ball Game . . .

(Bottom)—T. Richards, W. Micka, F. Chance, K. Baptist, J. Rodgers, and R. Trevino.

The 1980 Tech baseball team managed to 'hang in there' last spring. They finished the season with only two wins.

Most of the experienced player ended with the season last year. Frank Chance and Rene Trevina were the only returning players. The remainder of the team consisted of rookies. The high-point of the season came when Jeff Rodgers was named for the all conference team with a fielding percentage of 1.000 in the out-field and .444 at bat.

Even though the season went poorly, it gave our "rookie" players experience for the 1981 season. With the exception of one senior, all players will return for our 1981 season.

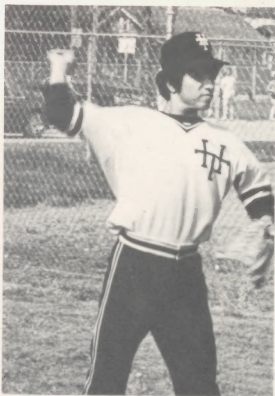

Jeff Rodgers swings away at the pitch.

Coach Buckley and Coach Runholt wait for the pitch anxiously.

Frank Chance kicks the dirt away from the pitchers mound.

Danny Gutierrez warms up before a game.

The opponent's hind catcher walks away after Tech player scores a run.

TECH TRACK

Row 2: V. Chase, D. Smith, J. Yudis, L. Medina, C. Townsend, J. Badgley.

Row 1: Coach Wesley, B. Ritter, R. Gongeies, S. Krukowski. Row 2: D. Darnell, V. Chase, J. Boswinkle, Coach Shryock.

Slim figures, tightly controlled muscles, and the speed of Mercury makes a runner. Our track teams possess these qualities excelling more in one way or the other. The Tech season hadn't been tops, but thrills of competition were there.

Track players go through strenuous workouts to achieve the "perfect runner". But, only few make a perfect runner and sometimes they are beaten. Regardless of how well or how adequate, these young men and women made our teams—TECH TRACK AND FIELD.

Football is a sport that is not only played for fun, but involves a lot of hard work, discipline and the spirit to win. Our men are out there fighting, and I mean fighting! Football, like other sports, involves the risk of casualties. Even though the sole purpose is not to get hurt, there is always the possibility of it happening. We enjoy seeing our players all decked out in their uniforms, gallantly spewing onto the field, like gladiators in early Rome going into the stadium. We watch with enthusiasm as our team bravely faces new opponents.

The Tech Tigers make sure the ball is dead by burying opponent.

Tech has it all, and MORE. More than just the three R's (reading, 'riting and 'rithematics)! Tech dares students to take a challenge in preparation for their futures. And, the vocational shop courses do just that. Do you want to learn how to pipe-fit? Or how about building your own dream house? Anyone can use the valuable skills from the auto shop in fixing cars.

The "regular" academic courses offered at Tech challenge students in other ways. Mastering skills in math, science, English, and social studies will always be beneficial to an individual at the present or in the future.

MASTERING THE TOOLS OF COMMUNICATION

Student reads story to Mrs. Dix in English class.

Brian Fleming speaks with Mrs. Argerus in reading lab.

Ron McCarty reads magazine in reading lab.

Tech's Language Arts department offers a well rounded program in order for students to communicate effectively by improving their speaking, reading, and writing skills.

The program consists of basic grammar skills to British Literature, speech to journalism. Special courses are offered in Business English, and College Prep English.

Students have access to the reading lab designed to improve comprehension and speed.

Darlene Edwards looks ambitiously at a story.

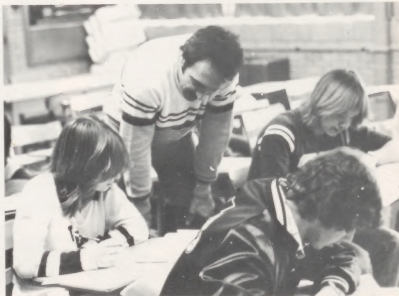

Summing It Up

Galileo gave us many theoretical terms which today are proven LAWS in our text books. Science and Math have been very much intertwined in Greek-Latin periods. Today we follow the same concepts, just divided into separate methods.

Our learnings may seem basic, as every year we seem to have over the same thing the year before, but basics are fundamental. Science and Math are built like steps, each step is higher up and a little more difficult. The stairs of Science and Math are endless. We take today's Science and Math and cultivate into tomorrow's universe.

Regi Gunn is demonstrating the Art of Color Matching.

Art brings out the creative spirit that fills ones soul. With a touch of imagination and native instinct your design begins to come alive. Tech enables those students, who have not yet unleashed their talents, to be guided by their teachers.

The Art of Music, also falls into the same mold. Their voices are toned so music comes forth sweet and clear.

True Artists at Work

Preparing for Today's Business

Tech offers a variety of Business courses. The department is divided in four categories, General Clerical, Bookkeeping-Business Machines, Stenographic, and Distributive Education. The Business Departments motto is, "Learn to Earn." Not only do you "Learn to Earn", but the department also helps in on-the-job training programs.

Mr. Ford shows correct technique for beating an egg.

Cleaning up is just as important as preparing the meal.

Casserole, soups, and poultry, sounds yummy? Well, in foods you get to learn how to cook these and many more. Are you sick of taking yourself out to McDonalds or Burger King? You don't have to if you can cook yourself. The myth that cooking is a womans job is just a fallacy. Both men and women cook and enjoy it. Take a look around, most chefs are male. So put on your chef hats and lets cook!

Bottom Left: Watching the press ro-o-o-oll

The Print shop is a very interesting class, and one which many students enjoy. There are many areas of the shop in which students work on layouts, make plates, run the press, work in the dark room, etc. The students turn out such jobs as business cards, tickets, pamphlets, posters, etc. Some students are good in one area, while others are good in another. Printing is a good shop choice here at Tech, and a good career.

MAKE A CHOICE . . .

Foundry is one of the many shops offered at Tech. More and more students are finding out what Foundry has to offer. Some of these students are bused from Morton, Gavit, Clark, Griffith, Highland, Munster, and the Hanover District to take advantage of Tech's fine Vocational Shops. In Foundry students make things such as crosses, dogs, horses, etc. Students might want to pursue this career.

Bruce Krause and Jeff Yudis are about to coin money with their molten aluminum.

Tony Weaver watches Chris Doty make a very interesting mold.

. . . IT'S UP TO YOU

Tony Mysliwicz carefully turns the lathe for a proper fit.

F PIPE T T I N G

Chris Burgans is beginning a pipe job here. You won't see this one in a store window.

Everyone gets into the spirit of pipes here. Mr. Zink and James Maddox repair a pipe threader.

Pipe fitting is more than the eye can see. First, this class is offered to anyone with absolutely no experience needed. Second, the class enables young students to have the basic for entrance in many different areas, that in the world can be used. For example, pipe fitter, air conditioning, and many other allied fields. So, we send those students out to create their futures.

The Tech Times has just completed what may be described as the most progressive year in its history. The staff members, though few in number, overcame many obstacles.

For the first time in many years, co-editors headed a staff consisting of only six members. The layout of the newspaper was changed from four to three columns. Editions arrived every two weeks bringing Tech Tigers news and information.

With the closing of another school year, so is the close of the Chart. Many different ideas including new and old, have composed this year's book.

While basic characteristics are shown through the Chart, we tried to bring a little freshness this year. Some of our dedicated staff members have worked hard to give a new look.

Many people normally do not take time to read any of our articles. We hope this year they will. Individuals on the staff have written their views on many subjects. We give you this year a new look, the Chart!

We appreciate the thoughtfulness of all our patrons and businessmen who have given what they could (in these hard times) to help us achieve our goal. We not only thank the people who have furnished funds, but the people who have gone out to raise them. The business community not only wants to help the prosperity of our year-book, but they also have the hope that Tech students would look through the Ad section to find a place of business for their transactions. And, of course, we all helped by contributing to our newspaper drive.

Take a Good,
Hard Look at Tomorrow,

Today!

Because tomorrow is just around the corner, and your future will depend a lot on the decisions you make today.

Your career goal is probably the single most important decision you'll make, so consider it carefully. Consider your interests and skills, and then consider working for a company that will allow you the opportunity to develop and use them effectively.

At Inland Steel we like to bring out the best in people. We do it through training programs, and by offering growth potential. We need solid employees on the production lines, in the craft apprenticeships, in our laboratories, and in the offices.

We've built a strong reputation as a first-rate steel-maker, and we built it with the help of our employees. But we don't rest on past laurels. Like you, we're looking at tomorrow.

This is really the hardest page in this book for me to write copy for. There's so much I want to say about its production. I don't want you to become bored, so I'll spare you some of it.

We selected our theme because we feel Tech DOES have it all. This theme was well into development before the final decision to close Tech was made.

We also feel that this theme describes our staff. We have had different people with different interests working on our book.

Special people have helped put this '81 CHART together! Among them are Mrs. Johnson, my advisor. Mrs. Johnson is one of the most dedicated teachers I know. Some nights we'd stay at Tech until 11:00 pm typing and doing last minute picture lay-outs.

I want to thank Bob Captain also for the many hours he spent taking and developing pictures and making prints.

I can't write this page without thanking Paul Beitler for all his work. I'm not mentioning him because he "happens" to be my boyfriend, but because although he graduated last year, he came to Tech after school hours and worked, and worked on the yearbook! He was very assuring and optimistic too.

There's another Tech alumni who worked on the yearbook. I want to thank Robbie Harris for his help in taking pictures.

Over all, I'd like to thank my Assistant Editor, Shane Thrailkill. At the beginning of the year Shane volunteered to work on Tech's yearbook, and boy did he work! Although Shane is a Clark High School student now, he's transferring to Tech next semester. Because of all his hard work and dedication, we have chosen him to be Editor-in-Chief of the 1982 CHART. I wish him the best of luck!

Thanks so much to the many other people who helped to put this book together, your help was greatly appreciated!

Thank you again.

Cyndee Hellems
Editor-in-Chief
